

Binoculars à la Carte

By Ken Textor, Offshore Magazine | May 2005

"Pleasant distractions' ought to be on the menu at the Pilot House restaurant at Sebasco Harbor Resort in Casco Bay."

Ken Textor cruised into Sebasco Harbor for dinner with friends at the Pilot House on his 36' yawl, Hazel G. "The Pilot House commands the most stunning view of eastern Casco Bay. In fact, Pilot House diners are provided with binoculars for gazing at the bay's distant islands."

Ken and his group dined on "extremely tender breast of duck glazed with a berry sauce, melt-in-your-mouth filet mignon and a seafood medley over pasta that included lobster, shrimp and scallops in a white wine sauce." He adds "... some excellent coffee topped off an evening that had also allowed us to watch the sun set spectacularly behind the pines of Harbor Island."
